Capacity Audience Attended Red Cross Meeting And Concert; Overseas Welfare Fund Fired Opening Gun With $50 Cheque

Rev. J. R. Kirk Main Speaker; Addresses Given In Polish and Russian-Ukrainian Languages; Local Quota $1,000.

The Community hall was filled to capacity with many others unable to secure admittance on Sunday evening as local citizens turned out to hear addresses on the Red Cross campaign now in progress and a splendid entertainment program.

Red Cross president Wilfrid Dutil was chairman and opened the meeting by calling upon the local high school choir, under the direction of Mr. James Cousins, to sing the national anthem.

Chairman Dutil in his remarks spoke of the ever widening field being covered by the Canadian Red Cross in the world conflict and the need for more funds to maintain the various services supervised by the Red Cross. He asked citizens to give more than they did last year. The local quota had been set at $1,000 which was $100 higher than last year.

Councillor Frank Abousaffy stated he was present to give the council's blessing to this splendid movement. The Red Cross was a bright spot in our efforts for a better civilization. The Red Cross would survive this conflict and would go forth to give succor to all regardless of color or creed. He stated we should be glad to give rather than to receive and asked the citizens to double or even triple the quota.

Addresses in their own languages were delivered by Mr. Joe Kryczka, of the local Polish Society, and Mr. Peter Meronek, for the Russian-Ukrainian societies. Both men exhorted their fellow citizens to support the Red Cross with donations. The latter speaker drew applause when he stated that it was in the constitution of the societies' charters that they support the Red Cross.

Mack Stigler, union representative, stated that Canada had been attacked and must be defended. Soon there would be an invasion of the European continent by Allied forces. Coleman boys would take part in this invasion. There was the probability that some might become prisoners of war and the Red Cross was the only organization capable of getting in contact with these boys. In addition the Red Cross was able to seek out relatives who may have been missing for months. This in itself was worthy of much support. He hoped all would subscribe to the Red Cross and felt sure the miners would help put Coleman "over the top".

A. F. Short, representing the mining companies, stated he was very pleased to see the large turn out of children, many of whom he believed were present in their own right. There existed at Cameron school a Junior Red Cross which was an active and wonderful organization. He likened the Red Cross to a beacon, a bright and shiny ray of hope in a world gone mad. The Canadian Red Cross must have funds to maintain its splendid work in this world conflict. Those funds had to be secured through voluntary contributions from all citizens. He asked his listeners to give generously and consider themselves lucky that they were able to give and only in money.

The main speaker was Rev. J. E. Kirk. He stated that the Red Cross was born out of war. Florence Nightingale in 1854 entered the battlefields of the Crimea where her sterling and humane work decreased the average percentage of casualties from 40% to approximately 5%. In 1863 the International Red Cross was founded. In 1885 Canada first saw the Red Cross emblem above a tent and the following year the Canadian Red Cross was established, first as a branch of the British Red Cross and later in its own right. The Canadian Red Cross aided in the Boer war but came to maturity in the First Great War of 1914-1918.

In the present war its opportunities for services were boundless. This is truly a world war with every nation, more or less, in the conflict. It is the most destructive war in history. The Red Cross is weekly sending overseas needed comforts to our armed forces, in England it has built a 600 bed hospital which has been turned over to the military authorities and no other organization but the Red Cross had the power to seek out missing persons in the war zones. The Red Cross believes in and upholds "integrity."

The Dominion quota is $1,000,000 of which Coleman has been given a $1,000 quota. The speaker stated that 5,000 ration books had been distributed from the local depot which meant that all Coleman citizens are asked for 20c each. This is a small amount to be asked to pay and he felt sure that the citizens would oversubscribe the local quota handsomely. In closing he remarked "Let's do our share. Let us not sit back and let other people in the Dominion send parcels to our boys."

George Derbyshire, president of the local Overseas War Fund, spoke for a few moments and stated his organization had received a letter from the Red Cross committee for a donation. He called upon the Fund secretary for a few words and presentation of a cheque.

Secretary Harold Houghton thanked the Coleman citizens for their splendid support to the fund which made it possible for a steady flow of 300 cigarettes per month to be sent to local men overseas. He stated that the citizens of Coleman were as much a part of the Fund as the officers and on their behalf and those of the fund he had great pleasure in firing the opening gun of the campaign with a $50 cheque. President Dutil received the cheque with thanks stating that the cheque would be well received by the Red Cross committee and would be well placed.

A splendid and varied entertainment program had been arranged and the artists received great applause from the large audience. Those taking part were the Coleman high school choir, under the direction of James Cousins, Coleman Polish girls in a Polish National dance, Miss Peggy McDonald with two songs, James Moore with two selections on his bagpipes, the Russian-Ukrainian choir under the direction of Peter Meronek, a Ukrainian boy's instrument quartet comprised of Ernest Belik, N. Birarda, Peter Antonenko and Peter Meronek, Ernest Belik in two selections on his piano accordion, and the Ukrainian Folk dance.

Before closing the program President Dutil thanked all organizations who had contributed to the success of the concert by donating free of charge the hall and over 200 chairs, also the legion for the place and all the artists for their splendid performances. The program closed with "God Save the King".

Canosa Now In Progress
The regular meeting of the local branch of the Red Cross was held on Tuesday evening, with President Dutil presiding. Correspondence was received from the company offering to sell the canvass of the miners being made at both mines. The meeting delegated the union representatives to report four men to canvass the mines and to inform mine officials when the canvass would take place. Three bills were authorized paid. Following a discussion on the campaign, during which the miners were asked to start their canvass as soon as possible, the meeting adjourned.

Charles W. May Appointed Town Assessor

Council Refuse Boost in Ash Collection Fee Till Facts and Figures are Placed Before It.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present: Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Abousaffy, Cox, Dutil, Ford, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Harry Chinkinda was present to ask that he be granted relief. He had been sickly for a considerable time and was still unable to work. Relief was granted after some discussion.

By-laws were given their third reading, appointing Charles W. May, of Calgary, as the 1943 assessor; Miss G. Lees as the 1943 secretary-treasurer, and E. D. Batum, of Calgary, as town auditor.

A letter was received from town solicitor Sam Bannan, who had been investigating the case of Mrs. Mable Griffiths in respect to relief. The council had previously endeavored to have her placed on the welfare plan, but their attempts had been rejected by the provincial government. Mr. Bannan found she was the direct responsibility of the town.

Flood control again came up with the reading of two letters, one from W. A. Fallov, minister of public works, and P. M. Sauder, of the federal water resources department. Neither letter was specific in promising help in the immediate future. A wire was drafted and sent to E. O. Duke, M.L.A., at present at Edmonton, to again take the matter up with provincial authorities.

A letter was received from Chas. Makin, informing council he was about to boost the ash collection fee to 40c. At a previous meeting, Mr. Makin had been asked to place facts and figures before the council for consideration. This has not been done and as a consequence the new boost will not be allowed by council.

A letter was received from Mrs. M. Cornett, asking for tax exemption on the property of her husband now a member of the armed forces. The letter will be given to Town Solicitor Bannan for study.

A letter soliciting relief was received from David Hooper, a gentleman, however, had passed away before the council met in session. The relief committee had acted upon receipt of the letter some days ago and relief had been granted him prior to his death.

A letter of complaint re barking dogs, was read. Constable Dutil was instructed to do all in his power to remove the nuisance.

The usual annual grant to the Institute For The Blind was authorized. Following are the committees appointed for 1943, the first named chairman; light and water, Councillors Ford, Dutil and Ramsay; police, Councillors Ramsay, Jenkins and Cox; works and property, Councillors Dutil, Abousaffy and Cox; finance, Councillors Abousaffy, Ford and Dutil; rink and parks, Councillors Jenkins, Ramsay and Ford; relief, Councillors Cox, Ramsay and Abousaffy; building, Councillors Ramsay, Jenkins and Cox.

Terms of deputy mayors: Councillor Ford from Feb. 15 to May 15, Councillor Dutil from May 15 to Aug. 15, Councillor Abousaffy from Aug. 15 to Nov. 15, and Councillor Jenkins from Nov. 15 to Feb. 15, 1944.

Juveniles Drub Medicine Hat In Play-Offs

Score 9-0; Rypien Paces Locals

A fast skating, smooth passing Coleman Juvenile team soundly defeated Medicine Hat Juveniles 9-0 in the first of a home-and-home total-goals-to-count series in the third round of the provincial playoffs. The second game will be played at the Hat on Saturday.

The Hat, while the heavier team, apparently slowed down Slugg against the faster Coleman team and as a result the locals scored four goals in the first period without opposition. Scorers were Slugg 1 and Rypien 3. A costly penalty to block Ray Rypien whiff two fast goals behind Tilly one minute after the start.

The visitors were more aggressive in the middle canto, but still were too slow to stop the elusive Rypien, who opened the period scoring in three minutes with his fourth successive goal. A penalty to Kope again saw Coleman take advantage in manpower to flash the red light behind Tilly. Slugg scoring on a pass from Hudz.

It was all Hudz and Slugg in the third period, as they combined after a minute of play to score the local's seventh goal. Hudz scoring. Medicine Hat was playing a much better game than in the first period and were holding their own. A sudden momentarily lapse on their part, however, saw Slugg slap a pass from Hudz behind Tilly. At the half, Slugg passed to Hudz, who raced around a loose defence to score again, the two goals romping within five seconds.

Lineups:
Coleman: Polski; Cytko, Biegus; Slugg; Hudz, Kryczka; Rypien, Omeluek, Lant; Collings, Jenkins and Ghanario.
Medicine Hat: Tilly; Ralston, Mantz; Kope, Metcalfe; Noble, Pushie, Colborne; Koch, McLeod.
Referee: W. Field.

Council Forms Basic Committee To Inaugurate Sports' Association; Committee Plans To Have A Meeting of All Interested Parties Next Week

3,301 RATION BOOKS DISTRIBUTED DURING FEB. 22 TO 27

A check at Antrobus' office reveals that 3,301 new ration books were distributed from Monday, Feb. 22, to Saturday, Feb. 27.

A number of late comers were forced to get their ration books at Blairmore.

The distribution also revealed that some citizens were apparently getting along without ration books, as they boarded at the hotels or ate at the restaurants.

Union Representative Stated Miners in Favor of Creating a Sports Association; Miners, Business Men and Mine Officials to be Represented on Association's Committee.

At the council meeting on Monday evening another progressive step was taken towards the formation of a local sports association.

Jimmy Joyce, miners' union representative, was present and reported that the miners were in favor of a sports association and desired the council to take the lead in forming committees. The labor members on the council substantiated Mr. Joyce's report by adding additional details. The council will obtain and keep in its custody the title deeds to the arena.

Following some discussion, Mayor Antrobus chose the following basic committee to get the ball rolling: Councillors Abousaffy, Dutil, Ford and the council members on the council. This committee is now entrusted with the work of contacting the miners, business men and mine officials and have them appoint a committee to represent them at a committee meeting, possibly next Sunday evening. The basic committee appointed by Mayor Antrobus will draw up a proposed constitution, on which the sports association can be founded. Changes and amendments to a proposed constitution can be made when the sports committee is elected to office.

The question of monthly dues will be decided at a later date, as will also be the matter of their collection.

Others sending brief letters of thanks were S. Myssnyuk and G. Evans.

Canada's Lend-Lease Plan

IN 1943 CANADA WILL MAKE available to the United Nations $1,000,000,000 in war supplies, on a lend-lease basis, and the announcement of this plan has been received with pride and gratification by the people of Canada. Last year, the same amount of money was sent to Britain as a gift, and the British government used it to send war supplies to the many fighting fronts both of the Empire and of our Allies. Under the 1943 arrangement, Canada will deal directly with the governments of the Allied nations, and will in this respect assume her part as a full partner in the United Nations. When the war broke out, production of munitions and supplies in Canada was very small, and it is a remarkable achievement that in three years we have been able to develop the capacity to produce almost any of the war supplies needed by ourselves and our Allies.

Foreign Press Approves Plan

It is likely that as a result of the 1943 Lend-Lease scheme, Canada will be supplying war materials to Russia, China and many parts of the British Empire. The press in other countries has been enthusiastic about the scheme, and one London paper said, "This is only the last step in the road, she [Canada] has had her heart and back in the war since the beginning." In Australia and New Zealand, too, the plan has been praised, and in Australia it was observed that the sum involved represented more than half of that country's war budget last year. In Russia and China, approval of the scheme was also expressed, and it is expected that as a result of the measure, the flow of supplies from Canada to all these countries will be accelerated. Because this plan in many ways resembles the Lend-Lease Act in the United States, the two nations will collaborate to avoid duplication in their work.

Raw Materials, Food, Included

Attention has been drawn to the fact that not all war materials exported from Canada will come under the Lend-Lease Plan. Those countries which have Canadian dollars with which to pay for their purchases will do so. "It is only the excess, for which they cannot pay which will be dealt with on the lend-lease basis," Hon. J. L. Bishop, Minister of Finance, has pointed out. Neither does the plan include only armaments and military equipment. It covers, in addition, food and raw materials which are essential to the prosecution of the war. Munition workers, farmers, and all those who are engaged in production in Canada today, may feel justly proud of the part they have played in bringing this nation of only eleven million people to the level in production at which she can supply not only her own needs, but can extend appreciable aid to the other nations who are fighting with us in the cause of freedom.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

The subject of Victory Gardens may seem to be a far cry from that of nutrition, yet the two are actually very closely related. In order to have the maximum amount of pep and energy to do our war-time jobs it is vital that we get the proper amount of vitamins and minerals in our daily diet. Crisp, fresh green and yellow vegetables will supply us with much of our needs this coming summer. What fresher vegetables could you eat than those grown in your own garden?

Not only that, but we learn on good authority that because of war conditions contributing to a lack of manpower, there is a possibility that there will be a shortage in certain lines of commercially grown vegetables this year. You can help overcome this difficulty by making that plot of grass behind the house useful for a change. Plant your own vegetables and have the pleasure of watching them grow to maturity. Compete with the man-next-door in growing the biggest cabbages and beets, etcetera. You will find that amateur gardening will become a thrilling hobby which will bring in a rich harvest of knowledge as well as vitamin-packed vegetables for your table.

By growing your own Victory Garden you will not only have fresh vegetables available all summer, but you will also contribute to the saving of commercially grown vegetables for the Canadian victor. The vegetables you will be definitely aiding in the national war effort and you will feel that you are doing something positive towards Victory.

So start planning now for that Victory vegetable garden. Beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, peas, corn, lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes, and many other vegetables can be grown in the average back garden. It will take energy and hardwork, we admit, but it's well worth the trouble! When the vitamin-rich harvest comes in you will be able to crow over your neighbour who lets his yard remain grass-covered and useless.

Detailed information regarding the planting of a vegetable garden will be available in the near future. Write to the Western Division Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, for a copy of our authoritative free Vitamin Chart.

Amateur Gardeners

Urged To Grow At Least Enough For Own Needs

M. B. Davis of the central experimental farm has listed eight vegetables which are likely to be scarce for the duration. He urged amateur gardeners to plant Victory gardens this year to meet their own needs.

The vegetables, as outlined to the Ontario Horticultural Association at Toronto by Mr. Davis, are potatoes, carrots, cabbages, tomatoes, onions, beans, green peas, and sweet corn.

Cucumbers, radishes, beets and squash also should be planted.

He said the Dominion government has not encouraged Victory gardens until now, because it was felt that commercial growers could handle all demands.

A dam still used in Tunisia was constructed in 1622.

The Changs selected the 10 most eminent professors in such subjects as sociology, history, economics and political science. These men gave a thorough, 10-week course, consisting of two hours a day, followed by questions put to them by the Generalissimo. Scriptures Free To Men And Women Of The Armed Forces

We are asked to remind the public that today, as they have since 1894, the British and Foreign Bible Society is seeking to it that the Scriptures are made available to Armed and Auxiliary forces of friend and foe alike, without price.

Perhaps an extract from a letter we received gives the story more clearly, so far as Canadian troops are concerned. Here it is:

"Every man and woman in His Majesty's forces is entitled to a pocket copy of the New Testament and the Psalms if she or he will ask his or her Chaplain for it. 453,000 of these pocket copies have been supplied to the Chaplains by the British and Foreign Bible Society at a cost to the society of over $60,000, but many in the services have not asked their Chaplains for their copy."

"In many cases, they have been given only to those going overseas, while it is the purpose to supply one to every member of His Majesty's forces. The society would be grateful to every man and woman serving the country in this war."

SWINE DISEASES

Worms Thrive When Animal Resistance Is Reduced By Other Causes

This is the fifth of a series of six articles by J. L. Miller, V.S., provincial veterinarian, dealing with the more prevalent hog diseases. The remainder are: Scouring, Leptospirosis, and Colic—will appear next week. Previously published: Hemorrhagic Septicemia and Italy Pig Disease; Mange and Diarrhoea; Enteritis; Prydie.

Young pigs which are raised under good sanitary conditions and are kept in a healthy thrifty state seldom become heavily infested with worms. Worms, like all other parasites, seem to thrive on animals which have had their resistance reduced from other causes. Adult swine are rarely heavily infested by worms, but usually harbour a few of these parasites. The common round worm "ascaris" is the only parasite which infests hogs to any great extent in this province. This worm is from six to ten inches in length, about the size of a small pencil in diameter, tapering off to a point at each end. It is found chiefly infesting the small intestine.

In order to realize the damage done to the host by these parasites, something of its life cycle should be understood. The female worm lays eggs in the intestine which are passed out with the droppings. On reaching the ground the eggs under favorable temperature and moisture conditions, go through a hatching process which takes from fourteen to twenty-five days. Worm eggs which fail to pass through this hatching process are harmless to pigs. If the eggs are eaten by a pig, the young worms pass in to the stomach where a small worm is released. These microscopic worms pass through the lining of the intestine, entering the blood vessels which carry them to the liver. They then burrow through the substance of the liver entering another group of blood vessels in the small intestine. After reaching the small intestine, it requires from eight to ten weeks before they reach sexual maturity and begin to lay eggs.

In heavily infested swine both liver and lungs are permanently damaged by the passage of these small worms, which in some cases may be responsible for the unthriftiness shown by swine heavily infested with worms.

Symptoms: A persistent hussy cough is the chief symptom, together with thumps. Where infestation is heavy, unthriftiness with a variable weight loss will usually be noticed. The animal becomes pot-bellied and are poor doers.

Treatment: A comparatively new drug called Phenothiazine is proving effective for the removal of worms in swine. This treatment has the advantage of being easy to administer. It is readily consumed when mixed with feed and should be given in a wet mash without any previous starving. Pure Phenothiazine can be given in the following doses:

Pigs—40 to 75 lbs. . . 1/2 an ounce
" 75 to 100 lbs. . . 3/4 an ounce
" 100 to 150 lbs. . . 1 ounce
" 150 lbs. and up . . 2 ounces

One treatment with this drug is considered to be 70% effective, and by repeating the treatment in two weeks, practically all worms will be removed. Pigs treated with Phenothiazine will usually pass red or purple urine for a period of thirty six hours after treatment.

Prevention: Worm eggs are very resistant to disinfectants, but are readily destroyed by hot water, or scalding, therefore the following method of destroying worm eggs is recommended. Prepare farrowing pens by removing all manure from the floors, walls, mits, troughs, etc. Thoroughly scald all parts of the pen with a liberal amount of very hot water containing at least two table-spoons of lye to a pair of water.

Scalding should be repeated seven to ten days before farrowing, brush off the sow and wash the udder and teats with warm water and soap and dry thoroughly, then move the sow into clean pens. In seven to ten days after farrowing, the sow and litter should be moved to a clean pasture away from the barn yard. Keep the young pigs on clean pasture until they are fourteen weeks old, when they will be fairly resistant to worms, provided they are kept in a healthy thriving condition. During winter when pigs must be kept indoors, pens should be cleaned daily, and a thorough scalding of the entire pen with hot water and lye should be carried out every fourteen to eighteen days.

The treatment of sows for the removal of worms at the start of pregnancy should be fairly effective in controlling worms provided they were kept on clean ground following the treatment.

"Noise is noise at any time" is the slogan of newspapers urging a campaign for noise restriction. Municipal authorities have enforced rules which cut down night-time clamor by 60 per cent, but have done nothing about daylight clatter. ### Has Her Memories

Centenarian Living In Ontario Recalls Early Days In Canada

Memories of nearly a century ago still burn for Mrs. John G. Tufford of Vineland, near St. Catharines, Ont. Those were days, recalls Mrs. Tufford, who is 100 years old, when Canada began to take her place as a lusty infant in the family of nations of the world; days when floors were of sand and the hearth furnished heat for the bare knees as well as warmth for the family. She remembers seven generations of her own.

Girls of her day, says Mrs. Tufford, would lead a spinning wheel on to a wagon and drive from the home of one settler to another, spinning for hire wherever they could. No time clocks gauged the hours of toil, and women were glad to receive 25 cents for a day's toil, while husbands, brothers, fathers or sons labored from dawn to dusk in the fields for 50 cents.

Amusements then, reminisces the centenarian, were quilting parties and singing and spelling bees, and no one worried about food rationing. As winter approached hogs were slaughtered and smoked and pickled, sauerkraut put down, fruits and vegetables canned, and with a sack or two of flour, a few other staples and a cow in the barn, the family felt secure until spring brought her bounty again.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

SYMPATHY

There never was any heart truly great and generous that was not also tender and compassionate.—South

All sympathy not consistent with acknowledged virtue is but disguised selfishness. Coleridge

More helpful than all wisdom or counsel is one draught of simple human pity that will not forsake us.—George Eliot

Infinitely greater than human pity, is divine Love,—that cannot be unmerciful.—Mary Baker Eddy

A helping word to one in trouble is often like a switch on a railroad-track—an inch between wreck and smooth-rolling prosperity.—H. W. Beecher

Let us cherish sympathy. It prepares the mind for receiving the impressions of virtue; and without it there can be no true politeness.—Beattie

GOOD ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR DELIVERY OF RED CROSS PARCELS TO WAR PRISONERS

London.—A Canadian prisoner of war in Germany who breaks his spectacles or loses a dental plate receives replacements from Britain in approximately the same time it would take a Londoner to have a similar replacement made.

It may take about a month from the time the spectacles or denture is broken until the time the new one is received. But in wartime Britain it takes at least that for work done for civilians.

It is one of the heartening instances of co-operation even between warring nations—co-operation which allows Canadians, for instance, to send food and clothing parcels through the Red Cross to Canadian prisoners of war in Germany with absolute certainty that these parcels will be handled properly during their transfer from the Canadian Red Cross to the International Red Cross to the German Red Cross, and into the prison camps.

Director of this work at Canadian Red Cross headquarters in London is Mrs. Margery Coste, of Toronto.

The system of sending clothing parcels is dictated by an international agreement which allows each prisoner one clothing parcel and one next-of-kin parcel on capture, and after that one next-of-kin parcel every three months. Food parcels, sent direct from Canada, they receive weekly.

Those parcels are routine. The exceptional instances have wider ramifications. For instance, an airman breaks his glasses in a prison camp. He notifies his camp leader, the senior officer or N.C.O. in the camp, who tells the German Red Cross. The Germans inform the International Red Cross in Geneva, which cables the Canadian Red Cross in London.

The request is forwarded to the government office where the airman's personal records are kept. The prescription for his spectacles is found, spectacles made and forwarded to the Canadian Red Cross. In turn, they are sent to the invalid comforts section of the British Red Cross, which arranges the parcel through Lisbon to Geneva and then to the prison camp. Without an hour of wasted time from the moment the spectacles were broken, they have been replaced.

For clothing parcels, the system is easier to describe. Mrs. Coste's department received notification that an airman, soldier or sailor is a prisoner. Immediately a clothing parcel is despatched from the Red Cross, and official labels allowing another parcel to be sent are sent to his next-of-kin.

Ordinarily, clothing parcels take an average of three months to reach the prisoner. They go by sea to Lisbon, by neutral ship to Marseilles, across France to Geneva, from Geneva into Germany, and to the prison camp. An officer prisoner is allowed one uniform parcel as well as his Red Cross capture parcel and the quarterly parcels from his next-of-kin.

NEED VEGETABLE OILS

Urged Increased Flaxseed And Sunflower Seed Production

Winnipeg.—The national barley and linseed flax committee urged increased flaxseed and sunflower seed production in western Canada this year.

L. H. Leberg, technical adviser to the federal oils and fats administration, told the committee's annual meeting that supplies of vegetable oils received from U.S. had been low expectations and that U.S. crushers were in the market for Canadian flax in addition to overseas demand.

In addition to domestic supplies, there were indications that upwards of 10,000,000 bushels of flax will be wanted by the United States and a like amount wanted for export overseas, it was stated.

A price of five cents a pound for sunflower seed has been recommended by the oils and fats administrator. It was estimated that available seed supply would permit about 50,000 acres to be sown this year, about 50 per cent. of desired acreage.

PREPARE FOR RAIDS

Increased Watch To Be Maintained On Canada's East Coast

11:15 a.m.—Overseas warnings that the Germans are looking for new adventures to offset Russian reverses have resulted in "an increased watch being maintained day and night on the skies over this area," according to a release issued by the Atlantic command's public relations branch. "Some authorities," it stated, "lean to the belief that raids on Canada are quite in line with Hitler's love of surprise assaults and his desire for moves that might convince the German populace that his air force is still capable of retaliatory bombing at ranges longer than R.A.F. attacks on Italy."

GAS PRESERVATION

Experiment May Extend Life Of Turner Valley Oil Field

Calgary.—An experiment which, if successful and adopted generally, may extend the life of the Turner Valley oil field, is now in progress in Canada's only major crude oil field.

Conservation board officials stated that for the first time in the history of Turner Valley field, waste gas which would otherwise be burned in flares is being returned to the formation.

TO FEED U.S. FORCES

Australia Accepts Responsibility To Take On The Important Job

Canberra, Australia. Supply Minister John A. Beasley announced that Australia has accepted the responsibility of feeding United Nations forces in this country and throughout the south and southwest Pacific areas and said he had authorized purchase of $64,000,000 worth of provisions.

He said the armed forces in the southwest Pacific, which include the troops in the Solomon, New Guinea and the other islands, had food reserves to meet any war situation.

Australia will spend $220,000,000 during the current financial year under a lease-lend arrangement to maintain United States forces, J. B. Chifley, finance minister, told parliament.

FIX BUTTER PRICES

To Maintain Production At As Even A Level As Possible

Ottawa. Provision of $1,500,000 for the purchase of butter to maintain prices established by the prices board, and to pay necessary storage, insurance and freight charges thereon, was contained in agriculture department estimates tabled in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Flaherty as part of the war appropriations.

Butter prices for various zones in Canada have been established by the prices board to maintain production at as even a level as possible.

The total war appropriation for the agriculture department was $14,240,300 against $20,820,000 last year.

Estimates for the agricultural supplies board within the agriculture department included an item of $1,080,000 for assistance in disposing of agricultural products rendered surplus by the war. The main surplus crops now existing in Canada are wheat and apples, for which export outlets have been reduced by war conditions.

The major single item in the agriculture estimates was $8,000,000 for assistance on the movement of western feed grains to eastern Canada. In addition, $2,000,000 is set aside for payment of eight cents a bushel on western wheat used exclusively as feed for livestock.

Fertilizer subsidies and freight allowances were expected to require 1,000,000 under the war appropriation. The subsidies are used to encourage the use of fertilizer to enlarge crop production.

He was at Malta at the same time as Flying Officer George Deuring, top Canadian fighter pilot, but Deuring was with the R.A.F. That leaves Flight-Lieut. McLeod leading fighter pilot of the R.C.A.F. He is now home in Canada, on leave.

BRITAIN, GAINING IN STRENGTH, IS MORE DETERMINED THAN EVER TO SEE THE WAR THROUGH

Toronto. John Bull in 1943 shows a good bit of a change since a year ago. "He's gaunter but not so tired, jollier but more determined, tougher and less inclined to talk about it."

In 1939's blackout the human looked at the searchlight-sliced sky and muttered: "Let 'im come—we'll take care of 'im." He didn't know—and probably Hitler didn't either—wouldn't a half dozen ack-ack guns in the whole Thames Estuary.

The human has vanished in the call-up to help build up the army wrecked at Dunkirk, rebuilt for twin successes in Africa. His just-as-chatty daughter substitute swings through a bus crowded with Britons reading of the Russian roller and the Tunisian squeeze but saying almost nothing of the "second front" they cried for in 1941 and 1942—and silently await in 1943.

For the first time John Bull is entitled to boast a little about his strength—but instead he argues over his mild and bitter post-war planning.

In London's swank spots the military brass is brighter than a year ago and the gaiety higher by a note or two—even though vanishing wins flow hesitantly at scandalous tariffs. But Mayfair is not Britain. In the towns of southern England the people who helped the R.A.F. win the battle of Britain in 1940 are still as stoutly solid as ever.

None the less they have needed and heeded—an occasional reminder that the job is far from finished. An English nurse who heard Nazi machine gun bullets rattle on the road of a London suburb a month ago said: "It sounds cold-blooded but I'm glad the raids are on again—people might have come to think our worries are all over."

In the homes and the pubs of southern England war is not the topic of conversation—though it is grained in the minds of a people who now have caught their second wind. The talk is of food rationed in readiness for the "big push," of clothes purchased sparingly on coupons, of shortened pub-opening hours because of dwindling supplies. Not a word of it is mourning because of townsmen. No one ever complains about a new tax.

Britain's armed forces are the strongest in history. Her industry is humming never before. But caricatures of Hitler and Goering are no longer plastered on every wall. The nose-thumbing period is over. Herman and Adolf had better watch out.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS TO ACCOMPANY CANADIAN TROOPS IN THEIR MAJOR OPERATIONS

Toronto.—Canada's overseas army, and newspapermen. Even their jeep-drivers will be chosen from among army men who had news-handling experience.

"News photographs and films are one of the most important products of the army public relations staff. Naturally, details cannot be disclosed of picture arrangements now being completed but to a newspaperman the advance plans for Canada's biggest news story are a delight."

"Every advantage is being taken of experience in North Africa in establishing the best possible communications. Despatch rider and airplane, of course will be used from advance areas. In addition, approval has been given for immediate experiments with a radio-equipped car to get news from the field to base headquarters after passing field press censor."

"Because of differing conditions governing censorship of operational news for Canada, Canadian army officers are being assigned for training in field press censorship. They will be acquainted with Canada's special problems. For instance, Canadian war correspondents may cable names and home towns of soldiers under the rank of lieutenant-colonel, whereas often this might not be permissible for United Kingdom war correspondents."

Purcell, who was press relations officer at army headquarters in England during 1941 until injured on a manoeuvre, said Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton is convinced of the urgent need for the Canadian people to receive promptly every possible word about their troops—subject only to security considerations—which can be got to Canada in the early stages of any major operation.

"For this reason," Purcell said, "the army commander proposes to arrange—as military considerations permit—that the Canadian war correspondents overseas at the start of a major Canadian operation will be taken along with the fighting men if they desire to go."

ASKS FOR DETAILS

Canada's Pay-As-You-Go Plan Interests U.S. Tax Staff

Washington.—The Canadian plan to forego 50 per cent. of 1942 taxes on earned personal income was viewed as a possible pay-as-you-go compromise for U.S. by some leading exponents of the Ruml plan to abate all of one year's taxes.

The joint congressional tax staff requested the Canadian government to furnish Washington with more details of its plan immediately.

REQUIRE LARGE SUM

Ottawa.—Finance Minister Flaherty told the House of Commons that the armed forces during 1943-44 will require $3,320,000,000 compared with $1,818,000,000 in 1942-43.

MORE ENEMY SUBMARINES SUNK BY ALLIES IN FEBRUARY THAN IN ANY PREVIOUS MONTH

London.—First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander hinted that the Allies sank more Axis submarines in February than in any previous month of the war.

At the same time, he said, United Nations ship production is showing an increasing margin over losses and the tonnage of British ships lost during the past three months was "much less than that of the corresponding period last winter."

He also disclosed that the Allies have moved 1,000,000 tons of supplies to North Africa.

Laborite Charles Ammon, answering Alexander, said he knew "the figures concerning our losses are pretty serious," and demanded that Alexander give more definite information on British losses.

"This hush-hush creates a sense of false security," Ammon said. "Although the figures appear a little better, they're by no means good enough."

The Axis probably still is producing U-boats faster than the Allies are sinking them, "but the gap is being reduced," Alexander said in introducing the navy estimates.

"The results in that direction during the last four months have been the most encouraging of the war and in February . . . we believe we have achieved the best results against U-boats yet experienced."

Alexander said convoys to Russia had cost Britain two cruisers, 10 destroyers, six other warships, many merchantmen "and, above all, valuable lives."

However, he continued, the sustenance brought to Russia had paid a "great dividend to the United Nations cause."

In the Mediterranean, he disclosed, the British navy with the help on two occasions of a U.S. aircraft carrier had ferried 744 fighter planes to Malta.

He placed German and Italian ship losses for the war at 5,000,000 tons in addition to 3,000,000 tons severely damaged.

Six German blockade runners attempting to reach Japan from French Bay of Biscay ports have been sunk in recent months, he said.

Britain now has a new faster and heavier type of corvette than those originally placed in operation, Alexander said.

"Some already are in use," he said. "We propose to call them frigates." Altogether the British corvette fleet now numbers 200 vessels.

ALEX. BALLOCH ADDRESSES
THE UNITED CHURCH CONGREGATION
Sunday evening, March 7, Mr.
Alex. Balloch gave a very interesting address to the United church congregation on the "Contribution of the Press to a Christian Ideal and Civilization." He reminded his listeners of the unifying force of the press in bringing facts about conditions and peoples from all parts of the world, thus giving accurate information, and in so doing correcting many mis-impressions which would otherwise go unchallanged. He pointed out how the press checked much false propaganda. It gave opportunity for the expression of opinion to a great body of people in a manner that was not afforded by any other agency. It championed the cause of freedom of speech and rule and individual rights. It was one of the chief sources of knowledge. Then in closing, Mr. Balloch emphasized the value of the church paper coming to the families of congregations, in that, information about the activities of the church automatically aroused a deeper interest in the church projects and was a definite aid in the strengthening of church work.

The congregation expressed its very deep appreciation for this informing and inspiring address.

Coleman Juveniles Advance in Play-Offs

Coleman Juveniles entered the third round of the Alberta juvenile playoffs, when they defeated the Blairmore Columbus Club Juveniles
in Blairmore Saturday night 11 to 2. They had previously defeated Blairmore at Coleman 11 to 4.

Blairmore held the Coleman boys down in the first period, but could not cope with fast breaking and clever stick handling of the Coleman team, when they scored five goals in the second and four in the third. Slugg was the power house for Coleman, scoring five of Coleman's eleven goals and assisting on two others.

Blairmore scored their two goals of the game in the final period, Semenzen netting the puck on a solo rush and Diamond drilling one home at the half-way mark on a pass from Semenzen.

The highlight of the game was when Slugg and Huds crashed through and rifled four goals past McDougall in the Blairmore net in less than a minute in the third period.

Coleman will now play off with Medicine Hat.

Lineups:
Blairmore: McDougall; Semen-
zen, Fleming, Drake, Schlosser, Orlando; Ennis, Kubik, Diamond, Lencucha.

Coleman: Polski; Cytko, Collings,
Jenkins, Slugg, Huds, Kryzka; Rypien, Lant, Omelusk.
Referee: Harold "Red" MacPhail.

WOMEN'S DIVISIONS OF THE ARMED FORCES

National Selective Service offices are now prepared to receive applications from girls who are desirous of joining the Canadian Women's Army Corps, the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) or the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

At an instructional course held in Calgary last month, members of the National Selective Service of the province were given a clear picture of the need of the women in the services, and the advantages gained by those who enlist. Enlistment will only be suggested in cases where there are no openings for the girls who appear for work at the bureau, and if the applicant appears suitable for service in the army, navy or air force.

The armed services act as prospective employers and will receive the same co-operation as an employer from the National Selective Service. It works both ways—girls desiring employment will be told of the trades open to them on active service and no preference is shown urging them into one branch of the service rather than another.
It was stressed that in many instances, women were not taking men's places, but merely replacing them in what had really been women's jobs to start with.

For a girl who really wants to serve her country, there is nothing like going into active service, if she is fit and has some skill or intelligence to offer. She will learn discipline and the art of getting along with others, and the training she gets will prepare her for the future, when she re-enters civilian life.

Mrs. Fred Smith, of Blairmore, is also acting in conjunction with the National Selective Service office in Blairmore, for enlistment of women in the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Juvenile Hockey Club Requires A Little Aid

All Expenses With Exception of One Account Have Been Paid.

As all sportsmen know the Coleman Juvenile club opened the rink this winter and have kept it open throughout the season for the enjoyment of adults and children alike.

The season is now almost concluded and the Juvenile committee finds itself facing an account of $51.25. With the exception of this account, all other bills have been paid in full.

It is also a well known fact that a number of the juveniles have worked very hard during the winter making ice and taking care of things in general. They have so-cured a few dollars for their work, but compared to the work done,

it is very little remuneration.

The committee went into this venture with the intention of paying all operating expenses. They still intend to meet these expenses even to the extent of digging down into their own pockets if need be.
To them this $51.25 account looms large, to those on the sidelines it does not appear too large, especially when one takes in the season's expenses as a whole.

During the year the Juvenile club sponsored seven hockey teams.
Four of these teams went under the colors of local organizations and one business house. One of the four promised the juveniles a donation to help defray expenses and pay in small part for the publicity received. Now that the attention of the other three may be drawn to the Juvenile's plight, perhaps they, too, would want to pay a little for publicity given them and contribute small cheques.

However, the persons most responsible for the indebtedness are those adults who on Sunday evenings would put a nickel in the collection box and skate for two hours or more. To them an appeal is made to show more sportsmanship and dig down into their pockets and send in a donation. If skating is held next Sunday night, which it will be if weather permits, let them again come skating and put a real contribution in the plate.
The juveniles would appreciate it and they themselves would have an easier conscience for it.

LIONS DISCUSS THE SOVIET AT WAR

At the regular supper meeting of the local Lions' Club Monday evening, some discussion centred around the promotion of the sale of War Savings Stamps at the schools. Lion Sid Short gave a very encouraging report on the Drama Festival, stating that the committee were fully organized and functioning efficiently, and that the Lions' Annual Drama Festival promised to be successful, with entries coming in satisfactorily.

After the few items of business Lion Joe Kirk led the group in a very interesting discussion on the topic: "The Soviet at War." The discussion was based on the booklet, "The U.S.S.R. at War," which gives some concise information on the Soviet Union at war under the following heads: Fighting the War, Producing for War, Living the War, The U.S.S.R. as a Member of the United Nations, and the Government and the War. The discussion centred principally on the first three heads. It was generally agreed that the Soviet had revealed a powerful fighting force beyond the expectation of even the most optimistic, and it was thought this was due to the very close unity of all classes of the nation and the drive created because of the emergency conditions. Though it was not possible to compare Canada with Russia largely because of the fact that Russia was under attack and out of dire necessity she must defend her country and people, while Canada was not so hard pressed at this stage of the war, nevertheless the fact was recognized that Canada could well gain a lesson from the Soviet in the pooling of resources and services at this time of national and international emergency.

The rather lengthy discussion, which had no dull moments, revealed something of the extensive reading of the members and the alertness with which political, economic, industrial, social and even religious questions are surveyed.

GIVE-TO RELIEVE HUMAN SUFFERING

There are an estimated 4,500 citizens in Coleman and

Compared to the dire need of funds for the Canadian we are asked to contribute very little.

Let's show Red Cross authorities that they have Cole-

CANADA NEEDS 40 MILLION POUNDS OF FATS FOR EXPLOSIVES

Here is a day-to-day War Job for You!

There is a serious shortage of Fats and Bones in Canada and the only way in which this shortage can be overcome is by the day-to-day saving of every spoonful of dripping, every piece of scrap fat and every bone, cooked, uncooked or dry.
You make glycerine and glycerine makes high explosives—explosives to bomb the Axis partners—Adolph, Benito, Tojo, sink their U-boats, destroy their tanks.
Bones produce fat. Also good for war industry.

HERE IS WHAT YOU DO

Save every kind of waste dripping. All may be mixed together. Strain through an ordinary metal strainer into a clean wide-mouthed can. Do not use a glass or paper container. Keep in a refrigerator or a cool place until you have collected a pound or more. Save all pieces of left-over scrap fat from your meals (cooked, uncooked). Keep separate from your drippings. Keep scrap fat and bones in a cool place.

HERE IS HOW TO DISPOSE OF FATS AND BONES

The Meat Dealers of Canada as a patriotic effort, are co-operating with the Government in this all-important war work by contributing their collection facilities. Now you can dispose of your Fats and Bones in any one of the following ways:

- 1 YOUR MEAT DEALERS will pay you the established price per pound for your fat dripping and your scrap fat. You can keep this money for yourself.
- 2 YOU CAN TURN THE PROCEEDS over to your local Voluntary Salvage Committee and/or to a registered local War Charity.
- 3 YOU CAN DONATE your Fats and Bones to your local Voluntary Salvage Committee in any place where they collect them, or—
- 4 YOU CAN CONTINUE to place out your fats and bones for collection by your Street Cleaning Department where such a system is in existence.

Every spoonful of dripping, every piece of fat and every bone, cooked, uncooked, dry, must be saved. It's a day-to-day job. Your contribution may seem small and unimportant, but even one ounce of fat dripping per person per week will give us 36,000,000 pounds of Fat each year for explosives.

Hotels, Restaurants—Your support urgently needed!

Canada's Call For 35 Million Pounds of Waste Fats

The lives of the United Nations' soldiers, airmen and sailors mostly depend upon the ready response to this S.O.S.

Fats and oils are the raw material from which glycerine is produced. Glycerine is the basic and indispensable ingredient in the majority of explosives.

If everyone in Canada saves as little as two ounces of waste cooking fat in a week, it will produce the glycerine required for the gun powder to smash Adolf, Benito and Tojo. There is enough explosive hidden in ten pounds of waste fat to fire forty-nine anti-aircraft shells.

In the past, we have received most all our fat requirements from the far eastern sources, now cut off by the Japs—coconut oil and copra from the Philippines, palm oil from Dutch East Indies and Malaya, tung oil from China, perilla oil from Manchuria and Japan. As in so many other material problems, this loss of our normal sources of supply of fats and oils is vitally important to our war efforts and economy.

Our problem is to replace all of this loss. It is being replaced partly by some imports from our good friends in Central and South America, but the biggest source of all has never been fully tapped. That source is in our own kitchens. Needless to say, this Canada-wide campaign depends almost entirely on the Home Front—on the continued efforts of everyone in Canada. This is a challenge to every Canadian housewife, restaurant and hotel owner for it is their job to see that this fat is saved out of Canada's frying pans and broilers, from the dripping of steaks and chops, beef and pork and lamb roasts, chicken and turkey, ducks and geese, must come fat for glycerine so urgently needed to make explosives for the shells and bombs and depth charges to win the war—and that adds up to deadly proportions for Hitler & Company.

Individually, we may look at the small amount we are able to save daily from dripping and from other sources and decide that it hardly seems worth while. Let us all remember that if every person in Canada saves as little as two ounces of waste fat in a week, it will be an adequate answer to this national war effort and appeal. Saving waste fats is one of the simplest war aids asked by your country, and it is one of the most important ones on the Home Front, so join the proud ranks of the "Kitchen Commandoes." Your uniform may be only a plain apron, but it can be as gallant an outfit as the togs and helmet of the bombadiers in a flying fortress.

You now have a definite plan for disposal, namely: Take fats and bones to your meat dealer, who will pay you the established price, or you can donate your fats and bones to your local voluntary salvage committee in any place they collect them.

WARNING

CANADA FACES A WOOD-FUEL FAMINE NEXT WINTER

ARE YOU one of the Canadian householders who burned fences, doors, and even flooring to keep warm in this winter's sub-zero weather? Or perhaps you are one of the lucky ones who just managed to scrape through?

In either case, you will want to be prepared for next winter when greater hardships loom unless you take immediate action.

The shortage already has affected many communities... total stocks of dry wood are nearly exhausted... in some places the small supply of green wood cut for next winter is being used now to meet the present emergency.

Throughout most of Canada, fuel-wood is obtained not far from where it is consumed. Its production and distribution are the business of local citizens.

The Dominion Government recognizes that the wood-fuel shortage is so serious that even with the full co-operation of everyone in affected communities an adequate supply is not assured. Accordingly, it has been decided to stimulate the output of wood-fuel by assisting those normally engaged in its production and distribution. To this end, the following measures will be adopted:

- 1 A subsidy of $1.00 per cord will be paid to dealers on all commercial fuel-wood contracted for and cut on or before June 30, 1943, and held to dealers' account on that date.
- 2 The Coal Controller has been authorized to arrange in his discretion for the payment of such portion of the transportation costs as he considers proper in respect of fuel-wood, particularly in cases where dealers, to procure supplies, find it necessary to contract for fuel-wood at locations outside the area from which they normally derive their supplies. In order to obtain any such reimbursement, dealers must obtain a permit from the Coal Controller before contracting for such supplies.
- 3 The Coal Controller will repurchase from dealers at dealer's cost all commercial grades of fuel-wood on which a subsidy of $1 per cord has been paid and which are still in dealers' hands as at May 31, 1944.
- 4 Assistance will be given in providing priorities for necessary equipment.
- 5 Farmers now on the farm, and who leave the farm temporarily in response to this appeal to engage in fuel-wood cutting, will be deemed by National Selective Service to be carrying out their regular occupation as farmers and will be given all the rights of deferment of military service which such an occupation now carries. Such temporary absence should not, however, interfere with agricultural production.

Municipal councils, farmers, fuel dealers, individual citizens, service clubs, and all other groups in communities where wood-fuel is burned, are urged to begin at once a rapid survey of their local situation, and to take immediate action to relieve the shortage.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 14

IN THE UPPER ROOM

Golden text: Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father, but by me. John 14:6.

Lesson: John 13: 14.

Devotional reading: 1 Peter 5:1-11.

Explanations and Comments

An Object Lesson in Greatness, John 13:1-11. In Palestine the washing of feet was one of the duties of hospitality. There were no pavements, no socks were worn, and on entering a house the sandals, which were little more than pieces of leather, were removed and the feet were washed. The washing was performed by servants, or by the sons of the household as an affectionate duty, and was considered one of the humblest of services.

On the last evening that Jesus spent with his disciples Jesus washed their feet. They had already reclined at table, but no one had performed the service, no one had been willing to humble himself and do it for the spirit of pride and rivalry and self-assertion was ripe among them.

The Application of the Lesson, John 13:12-17. When the humble act was over, Jesus resumed his garments, and as he sat down among the disciples he asked them if they had understood the meaning of his act. "Ye call me Teacher, and Lord, and ye say well, for so I am"; thus he began his lesson to them. No pupil ever called his teacher by his proper name, and there were two titles of respect for him in common use: "Rabbi", meaning Master, and "Mar", meaning Teacher.

As he, their Lord and Teacher, had performed for them this humble service of washing their feet, so they ought to wash one another's feet, ought to perform for others any good service in their power. "For I have given you an example, that ye also should do as I have done to you." The imitation Jesus wants is not the doing of the same deed, but the observance of the principle involved, the being ever ready to humble oneself and serve others.

FLYING OFFICER GEORGE F. BEURLING

D.S.O., D.F.C., D.F.M. and BAR

Below is a report of an interview with Flying Officer Beurling, accredited representatives of the Press, including the Winnipeg Newspaper Union, at the Fort Garry Hotel, on Wednesday, February 25th, 1943. The interview was under the direction of Squadron Leader McCall of Ottawa and Flight Lieut. Anderson, Press Liaison Officer No. 2 Air Command.

"Canada's Ace Fighter Pilot"

At 20, George Beurling has packed into the past three years more adventure, thrills and narrow escapes from death than would befall the average man in several lifetimes. Stationed at Malta, he ran up the remarkable score of 29 enemy planes destroyed during a period of five months, to become the most outstanding combat pilot of the R.A.F.

Learning to fly at the age of 14, by the time George Beurling turned 17 in 1939 he had 450 hours in his logbook. With the outbreak of war he had only one thought in mind, to become a fighter pilot. Rejected by the R.C.A.F. due to insufficient schooling, he worked his way to England in a cargo ship, only to discover he had left his precious "Logbook" behind in Canada. Back on the same ship to Canada he secured his Logbook and upon arrival again in England was accepted by the R.A.F.

Flying Officer Beurling credits his success to three things. "Good eyesight, improved by practicing observation at great distances; his study of 'deflection' shooting and the care of his plane by his ground crew."

Deflection shooting is the art of judging the angle, distance and speed of your own and the enemy's plane so as to allow the proper lead when firing. George Beurling has studied deflection shooting and become so proficient at it that he has just completed a book on the subject for the R.A.F. to be used in training.

Condition of a plane is as important as the pilot's ability, according to him, and proudly boasts that he had the best ground crew and consequently the best plane operating from Malta. He chuckled around with his ground crew, each man becoming a personal friend, the pilot and ground crewmen each a member of a team, so to speak, and it is this "team work" which was one of the primary essentials of his success.

In the opinion of George Beurling we are on the way to defeating the Axis, and the air war is and will be one of the most important factors in attaining this end. While paying due respect to the skill and courage of Bomber Crews, yet he himself has no desire to pilot a Bomber. Being somewhat of a "loft wolf" he wishes to remain a fighter pilot and continue operating from Malta.

George Beurling has some interesting opinions on the subject of comparative abilities of Italian and German pilots and their aircraft. As pilots the Italians are better flyers and possess greater personal courage than the Germans, but their training in tactics is not as good as the Germans, resulting in less effectiveness in air combat. Their aircraft are more maneuverable but not as fast as the Germans. British pilots and British Spitfires are superior to both.

War, even air war, has its lighter moments as "Ace" Beurling related. On one occasion a JU88 appeared over Malta when one of the crew bailed out. Upon landing it was found he had a suitcase with him containing clothes, shaving kit and a letter addressed to his family back in Germany, which he requested to be mailed them to advise of his safety. He was tired of the war and this was the simplest way out.

Of Air Vice-Marshal Park, a New Zealander who is the A.O.C. at Malta, he said he was a good mixer and a swell officer. Air Vice-Marshal Park on more than one occasion was found by him with a shovel to help fill in bomb craters on the airfield runways. During one of the many raids, Air Vice-Marshal Park was bombed out of his house, unharmed but losing all his clothes. The only uniform he could obtain for some time was that of an A.C.2, which he wore and thoroughly enjoyed being unrecognized at times to the extent of other Air Force personnel burning cigarettes and lights from him.

George Beurling's bag of 29 enemy planes consist of four bombers and 25 fighters. His best day was one in last July when he brought down four fighters during two flights. The bombers were all JU88's. This remarkable record was not made without injury to himself. On five occasions his plane was disabled, three of them causing crash landings, and one, the last causing him to bail out after destroying three enemy aircraft and being wounded twice. Fortunately, he descended onto the sea about five miles from Malta and picked up by a rescue launch. During his sojourn in the hospital, George Beurling learned of his well-earned award of the D.S.O. Upon leaving the hospital the R.C.A.F. is requested to let him to enable him to travel to Canada and make a tour of the country.

When flying from Malta to Gibraltar, the transport plane crashed on landing at Gibraltar, killing 15 persons but miraculously sparing George Beurling. The British Commonwealth of Nations is proud of the way Malta has withstood all the enemy could bring to bear against it, and Canada is especially proud of the exploits of George Beurling and the fact that nearly 50% of the Air Force Personnel stationed at Malta are Canadians. Flying Officer George Beurling has set an unparalleled example for all Canadians and it is fitting that we quote the official citations of awards made to this daring and skillful flyer.

FLYING OFFICER GEORGE FREDERICK BEURLING

Later during the same day he engaged ten enemy fighters and shot two of them down into the sea, bringing his total victories to eight.

Sugar For Canning

Guides Sent To All Householders For Applications

The Ration Administration of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board draws attention of householders to the application for canning sugar in the No. 2 Ration Book just distributed. Canning Guides have been sent to all householders to aid in the estimation of sugar which will be needed by Canadian women during the 1943 canning season which opens June 1st.

In addition to the application for canning sugar, the new book also contains a guide sheet to assist the householder in estimating required sugar for preserving of seasonal fruits. The guide stipulates the amount of sugar that may be applied for with stated amounts of fruit. The fruit used for canning, jam or jelly making, means any fresh perishable fruit that is in season between June 1st and October 1st and will include citron.

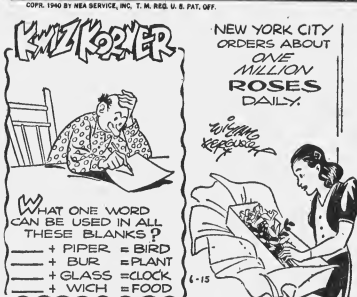

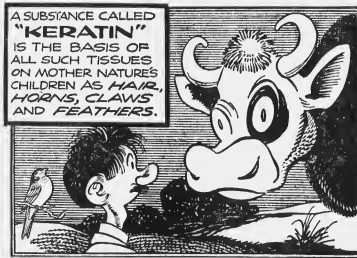

It is advised that jars and sealers must be taken into account in estimating the season's canning. Those who have not received the Canning Guide issued by the Administration may apply to their Post Office or rural mail carrier. These guides contain all directions and conditions for obtaining canning sugar.

The completed application for canning sugar should be mailed to the nearest Local Ration Board not later than April 15th.

SANDS OF HAZARD

By J. B. RYAN

CHAPTER X

ANDRE RIBBOTT, whatever the cause for his discomfiture, recovered quickly. He returned Ismeddin's cold glance with a calm smile. "I thought you would be detained in argument with the Spahis for the right to punish Story," he said easily. "I hardly expected Lebeau to surrender him so quickly."

"The foreigners broke jail," explained Ismeddin. "We overtook them trying to overtake you. The Spahis, too, are out, scouring the desert for him and the girl."

Because of the menace of Lebeau, as great a threat to Ribbott and the Kahiri as to Story and Annette, camp was broken in the cold and dark before sunrise and the sheep started on their slow march over the wastes.

It took another day to reach Bir Mazou, the forgotten oasis across the Libyan frontier. Only a few scraggly date-palms and a thickening of the halfa served as landmark for that dreary spot on the sands. Bir Mazou, like Ain Safa, was classed as a place of water, but there any similarity ended. Ain Safa was a spring, with enough water to sustain a town; Bir Mazou was not even a water-hole, the traveler had to dig in the earth to find water, the blowing sand filled in the crude well, and the next comer had to scoop out the dirt in turn.

No one lived at the Lonely Well, yet there were people under the drooping palms toward which the Kahiri and the sheep were moving. A mile away, Story saw three dull shapes that took on the outlines of motor trucks and a smaller car.

"That will be the Germans," Annette said to Story, sent to meet Ribbott at Bir Mazou.

The prisoners were unbound. In the four nights and three days since their capture, Story had kept his eyes peeled for a chance to escape, as he knew, had the girl and Mohammed ibn Mulai. But they were not the prisoners of Ribbott; they were in the power of Ismeddin, and there had not been a moment, sleeping or waking, when the three had not been under the watchful guns of the Kahiri.

The small car moved out from the palms, coming to a halt before the camels of Andre Ribbott and Ismeddin, and out stepped a uniformed figure with red face and blond hair. "Well, mein freund," said the soldier, "you have arrived at last!"

"Ja, Lieutenant. Kolb," Andre Ribbott's German was as fluent as his French. "And if I am a bit behind schedule, the number of sheep I bring should compensate for the delay."

THE vanguard of the sheep, reaching the camels, parted like water at a rock and was flowing past toward the oasis. The gaze of the lieutenant ran over the gray tide stionally, and turned his hard face and pale eyes on Andre Ribbott who had appeared beside the lieutenant. "The Kahiri return to their village, Sidi Ribbott. You will pay me the money on which we agreed."

"Money?" The renegade sneered into the Berber's face. "You get no money, Ismeddin. That is why I did not want you here when your men were to be told their work was only partly done. You fool, did you think I would pay all that silver you demanded?"

The hand of Kolb slid closer to the holstered gun at his waist. Ismeddin said, with cold hauteur: "I ask you once more, Sidi Ribbott, for the silver you promised me."

"You get no money, Ismeddin," Ribbott said flatly. "And whether you like it or not, you are going to move these sheep for us."

"Then, by Allah—" snarled the Berber, swinging his coiled rifle toward Ribbott. The oath and the rifle were checked in breath and motion by the clack of a pistol. Ismeddin staggered and dropped at the feet of Kolb, the man who had shot him.

WITH the discharge of the automatic, Jack Storey wheeled and raced toward the near-by car. His voice was drowned in the bark of guns as the waiting Germans answered the blazing weapons in the hands of the leaderless Kahiri.

Bullets splattered into the sand at the feet of the American, and drilled a tattoo on the metal frame of the automobile as he flung himself into the driver's seat, gripping the wheel and kicking at the clutch and accelerator in almost the same motion.

The car leaped forward, slewing crazily in the sand. Sheep scattered the noises of the embattled oasis, sprang from Storey's path. The American circled back, peering anxiously through the confusion of running figures.

The girl and the shepherd were nowhere to be seen. And then, only seconds too late, Storey saw a shape roaring down upon him—one of the great trucks, a metal battering-ram whose head was an enormous foot-wide bumper.

Desperately Storey claved the wheel, but did not entirely avoid the armored thunderbolt. The ponderous bumper sheared like a knife through fender and hood, lopping off a wheel as the truck flashed by.

Storey's car reared, but did not overturn. There was a jolt as the broken axle drove deep into the sand. Miraculously, the motor was unharmed, and on three wheels, jerking like a maimed animal, the automobile lumbered on.

Then, like a falling hammer, a second truck plowed into the crippled car, and the world of Jack Storey became a universe of shattering glass, twisting steel and blackness.

The driver of the truck backed away from the wreckage just as a tongue of flame flickered somewhere within the crumpled car. The sight of the fire caused the chauffeur to back his own machine even farther. A figure threw over the ground. Mohammed ibn Mulai was tearing at the battered door of the motionless car.

Somehow, the shepherd got the jammed door open. Flame licked at his hands as he gripped the shoulder of Storey and hauled the body of his friend out of the car. Mohammed had acted just in time. The creeping fire seemed to explode as the Arab staggered clear with his hands and the petrol-soaked wreck was enveloped in a white blaze.

The shepherd knelt, depositing the body of Storey on the sand. It was then that Andre Ribbott reached the scene. The renegade was still running when the bullet in his hand spoke twice, sending a bullet into the body of the kneeling Mohammed and the second slug into the quiet form of the American.

SMILE AWHILE

The chaplain preached a forceful sermon on the Ten Commandments. One private went away in a serious mood, but eventually brightened up. "Anyway," he said, "I have never made a graven image."

First Father: "I don't know what to do about my son. He wants to be a racing motorist."

Second Father: "Well, whatever you do, don't stand in his way."

Doctor (examining throat): "Say a-a-ah."

Tony: "I no spikra da Ingleshe."

Friend: "Now, Janie, why do you pass on every secret that is told to you?"

Janie: "That's easy to answer. I have only two views of a secret—either it is too good to keep, or it isn't worth keeping."

Colonel: Don't you know that you have to salute an officer?

Raw Recruit: Yes, sir. But if you remember, I've already said good morning to you once today.

Teacher: "Johnny, who was Anne Boleyn?"

Johnny: "Anne Boleyn was a flat iron."

Teacher: "What on earth do you mean?"

Johnny: "Well, it says in the history book, Henry, having disposed of Catherine, pressed his suit with Anne Boleyn."

Magistrate: "You cannot drive now for two years, for you're a danger to pedestrians."

Defendant: "But your honor, my living depends on it."

Magistrate: "So does theirs."

Mrs. X: "Does your husband talk in his sleep?"

Mrs. Y: "No, and it's very exasperating. He just grins."

"Your advertisement said that this room had a heavenly outlook," complained a new tenant.

"Well, and ain't it got a skylight," said the landlady.

"When I took Brown's mower back he swore at me over that missing screw."

"We can't have that sort of thing doing. You must borrow the vicar's next time."

GARDEN NOTES

A cold frame which is simply a hot bed without any heating material. Flowers To Fit

There are flower gardens that fit almost any situation. For those people who have neither the time nor inclination there are plenty of annual flowers that thrive almost on neglect. A little digging of the ground in late spring is about all that is required. Take such things as alyssum, dwarf marigolds, portulaca and California poppies for edging. These are little flowers that almost need themselves, crowd out weeds, do well in any location, but prefer sun and light soil. Once started they will look after themselves.

For the centre of beds or near the back, larger flowers such as calceola, nasturtium, poppy and phlox will make a good showing, and for screens, castor beans, dahlias, cosmos, sunflower, tall marigold are advised. For scent, especially in the evening, a few nicotina, carnations, magnolia or stocks will perfume the whole garden.

FIRST BLACKOUT IN 1813

The little town of St. Michaels, Md., on the eastern shore of Chesapeake Bay underwent a blackout recently but it was not its first one. Back in 1813 when a British attacking force came up the bay, the town had its first blackout. Residents put out all lights and hung lanterns in treecrooks. As a result, the British gunners overshoot their mark and the town escaped damage.
